

Day #2 of Abundance

"It is a wise thing to bless the money you spend, and to know it will come back to you multiplied."

—Masaharu Taniguchi

When you pay a bill, do you do so begrudgingly or with gratitude?

- When you pay your rent or mortgage, do you say 'thank you'?
- What are you thinking when you write a check for the membership fee? Are you feeling gratitude or resentment?
- When you swipe your card at the grocery store, do you appreciate the flow of abundance or are you thinking you've spent too much or everything is priced too high?

Too often we bless the flow of money that comes into our hands and curse the flow of money that goes out of our hands. It's all flow. Bring the energy of blessing to all your interactions with money, including your thoughts and words. This will, indeed, come back to you multiplied.

Today: I invite you to literally bless the money you spend. When you pay for your lunch, say 'thank you' to the Universe. Express gratitude for the opportunity to pay the bill for the service you received. Bless the money you spend!

Abundantly yours,
